Note: For security reasons the sources folder is in a zipped file and is password protected. To uncompress a password protected ZIP file you will need to have a zip file utility program installed and the correct password. As soon as the zip file begins to uncompress, you will be prompted to type in the password. The password is the ID number of your order. You can find this number on the order page which we provided to you through a link that we sent to you via the email.

Please, help us preserve the quality and uniqueness of our products by not uploading the sources folder either zipped or unzipped to the server.
