

We had a holiday today. We went to Passau to visit Melly, Ramona's sister. I am happy; it was such a nice day! It was a drive of two and a half hours. Ramona was driving and we were listening to music. In Passau we saw Melly's new flat and when she had to go to university for two hours we went to visit the city of Passau. It is a really beautiful city! In the evening Melly took us to a pizzeria in which she claimed that we would find "the best pizza ever, at least in Passau". And it was true! It was a perfect dinner with wonderful service and delicious pizza in a great atmosphere. I thus gave a generous tip to our waitress which, as Melly said "made her day". Well, when you are happy you can make others happy! Like this you can spread the happiness. Give something to others when you are satisfied yourself. That will increase your happiness even more.

A handwritten signature in green ink, appearing to read 'Melly', with a large, sweeping underline.
